Trays, placemats and coasters

Our signature trays, placemats and coasters—some produced continuously since the 1940s—embody pared-back elegance. Finished by hand, they are available in multiple sizes, finishes and shades, with bespoke options possible. Whether used for carrying, serving, or decoration and display, the minimalist designs are engineered to last.

Kaymet is a pioneer of great British design.

Established in 1947 by Sydney Schreiber, our company manufactures trays, trolleys, tables and electric hotplates from anodised aluminium. Each piece is handmade at the Kaymet factory near London's Old Kent Road. There, skilled metalworkers carefully chop, crop, press, punch, bend and polish the lightweight forms into useful, clean-lined products that endure for generations.

Beloved for their simplicity, longevity and range of colours, shapes and sizes, Kaymet's classic designs have changed little over the decades. They've adorned the homes of golden-age luminaries, the offices and boutiques of luxury brands, hotels, museums, department stores and film sets. Kaymet held a Royal Warrant of Appointment from HM Queen Elizabeth II, and in 2024 were granted one by HM King Charles III.

This illustrated catalogue continues Kaymet's tradition of using fine printed matter to advertise its wares.

The first Kaymet factory in the 1950s, Kennington, London. The process of production is unchanged today.
